17.4 Alcohol, Drug and Substance Abuse
MOUNT KENYA UNIVERSITY IS A DRUG-FREE ZONE and requires all its students to desist from drugs while in the University or at their homes or while outside attending University functions.
Research has shown that alcohol and marijuana (Cannabis sativa) are the prevalent drugs mostly abused by University students in many countries. Certain factors such as peer-pressure, easy availability of the substances, parental and societal influences, emptiness in life, and advertising media pressure, among many, play a leading role in the abuse of alcohol and drugs. These substances have far-reaching adverse physical, social, economic and psychological effects. Using these substances as a way of escape or dealing with everyday problems in life is a maladaptive way of responding to the problems and pressure of growing up.
When you are under some stress and feel tempted to turn to drinking or taking drugs, please go to the Counseling Services Centre or talk to a peer counselor. There are also caring staff that will provide you with the necessary help. They will treat you with the utmost confidence. As an educational institution, Mount Kenya University is committed to providing an environment that enhances and supports the intellectual growth of all its students.
The University community has the collective responsibility to ensure that this environment is conducive to healthy intellectual growth.
Possession, sale and consumption of controlled substances are prohibited both on and off campus. Students should note that if caught in possession of illegal drugs by the State security agents, they will be prosecuted in a court of law just like any Kenyan caught breaking the law and the University will not intervene in any way.
Disciplinary action shall be taken against any student who may disturb others while under the influence of alcohol or other illegal substances.
Smoking, alcohol-taking and general drug abuse and possession is prohibited within the University premises. Students found committing these offences are liable for disciplinary action.

27.0 ACADEMIC ADVISORY

27.1 Objectives:
1. To provide information on career planning and choices
2. To promote student academic performance and progression
3. To promote a highly interactive and personalized learning environment
4. To promote mentorship
5. To foster professional relationships
6. To respond to student academic concerns

27.2 Rationale
Mount Kenya University recognizes that there is need for accurate and timely information to students in decision-making process so as to foster timely progression from registration to completion of studies. Academic advisors will engage students in thinking and planning about the larger purposes of their education, careers and life plans. The ultimate objective of academic advisory services is to develop self-directed students. Although the final responsibility falls on the advisee, the advisor should regard it an equal responsibility to ensure that the student is sequentially fulfilling the requirements of the programme they are enrolled in.

Advisory services constitute an ongoing conversation between the student and advisor about carefully crafting an educational programme including curricular and co-curricular components suited to the student’s developing self-understanding and self-actualization as well as the academic possibilities available in the course of their studies.

27.3 Role of the Academic Advisor
1. Providing up-to-date information to students about university policies, procedures, resources, and programmes.
2. Guiding students in making appropriate programme specialization.
3. Assisting students in understanding the nature, value and purpose of their studies.
4. Assisting students in relating their interests, skills, abilities, and values to careers and the world of work.
5. Advising students in developing an educational plan that suits their life goals and objectives.
6. Assisting students in evaluation or re-evaluation of their progress towards established goals and educational plans while in the University.

7. Assisting students learn how to make practical academic plans and decisions, how to discover a range of options available to the student, based on the student’s stated goals, and how to think through the consequences of their own choices.

8. Assisting in the development of academic/career plans consistent with the student’s stated goals, interests and abilities.

9. Creating positive working relationships with students, staff and other faculty.

10. Making referrals to other offices, staff, institutions or relevant support services when necessary, who may provide assistance to the student.

11. Making recommendations to relevant committees of students with exemplary academic performance for purposes of reward, motivation or appreciation.

27.4 Appointment of Academic Advisors
Students are assigned by the Head of Department to an advisor teaching in that programme area. Others are assigned according to general interests they have identified. In some instances, students may be assigned to a faculty member with whom she or he feels special rapport, even though that faculty member does not teach in that student’s major programme area.

Requests for a change of advisor should be addressed to the Head of Department and accompanied by a reason given by the student. Also, occasionally it is the advisor who decides that a change is desirable. If the request involves a change of academic programme, and hence a different school, the new Head of Department and current advisor involved should both approve the change request. Students should have access to academic advisors at every stage of their studies.

An academic advisor can be selected by the Head of Department considering employee academic expertise, and expectations of staff members. Academic advisors are expected to promote confidentiality and integrity at all times when dealing with advisees.

27.5 Advisory Meetings for Academic Advisory Services (AAS)
A staff member who serves as an advisor will be expected to plan for a minimum of two sessions with the students allocated to him/her. Usually, such meetings should occur before the end of semester examinations and after the semester reopens. Where discrepancies are noted, prior and after, the advisor may refer such issue to the Head of Department or relevant university officer for action. The sessions should not only assist the advisee with accurate, timely information related to their programmes, but also include sessions on alignment with academic requirements. The academic advisory process should involve record-keeping of each session meeting with students or individual student focusing on such factors as: student progress, career aspirations and student feedback.

27.6 Role of the Student
1. To initiate contact with departmental academic advisor and make appointments in advance with academic advisors.
2. To come prepared for appointments by writing down questions/concerns in advance. During the advisory period for registration, students should also come with a list of units they are interested in taking in the following semester.

3. To accept responsibility for making own plans and decisions. An advisor may provide advice, but not make plans or decisions on behalf of students.

4. To ask for guidance and advice from reliable sources, get advice from multiple sources, and when the advice received does not meet student expectation, get a second opinion. Ultimately, all decisions belong to the student.

5. To be aware of the university policies, procedures and practices, and academic programme requirements, and seek clarification when necessary.

6. To map out a plan of action for academic career and review it with the departmental academic advisor.

7. To keep abreast of all correspondence sent to student portal, university noticeboards, websites and social media pages.

8. To take advantage of University resources that will improve and enhance educational experience.

9. To seek the input of advisors, departmental staff and students when considering programme changes.

27.7 Expected Outcomes of Academic Advising

1. Students will know how and where to access accurate information about policies, procedures and requirements.

2. Student will be encouraged to make decisions that support their goals, abilities and aspirations.

3. Students are paired with a mentor who advises on important career choices and aspirations.

5. Academic advising will increase the academic completion rates of our students.
